Congo Policies Attacked

U.N. Facing Crisis As Reds Lash Dag

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations faced a major crisis today as a result of a slashing Soviet attack on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and his Congo policies.

A wide-open break was threatened virtually on the eve of the Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's appearance here.

Rally To Dag's Support
The Western powers, led by the United States, prepared to rally to Hammarskjöld's support in another round of Security Council meetings beginning this morning on the chaotic Congo situation.

The Soviet attack, more bitter than any ever made by a big power against a U.N. secretary general, came Wednesday night from Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, newly arrived from Moscow. It reflected the intensity of the Soviet interest in the outcome of the power struggle in the new African country.

Zorin's blistering 74-minute speech against Hammarskjöld was delivered after the Security Council failed to grant a Soviet bloc demand that a delegation representing leftist Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba take part in the motion to seat Lumumba's delegation, while the other eight council members abstained.

No action was taken on the admission of a rival delegation representing Congo President Joseph Kasavubu.

Calls Dag Western Tool
Zorin accused Hammarskjöld of being a tool of Western imperialists, of conspiring with the NATO powers to undermine Lumumba and of trying to re-impose colonialism under the blue and white banners of the United Nations.

Chief U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth, in a statement outside the council, called the Soviet accusations "arrogant and hypocritical." He planned to throw his full support behind Hammarskjöld during today's debate.

He and other council members also were working on a resolution which in effect would be an endorsement of the secretary general's Congo program.

Obviously perturbed, Hammarskjöld himself took the floor briefly and answered some of the detailed charges leveled at him by Zorin. His voice rising in anger, he said his record was fully known by the council and he was going to "stand on it."

Congolese Army Head Reported Under Arrest

Situation Incredibly Confused; Lumumba Said Still In Power

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A spokesman for Premier Patrice Lumumba said today Col. Joseph Mobutu was arrested on Lumumba's orders 12 hours after the colonel announced the army was taking over power.

Mobutu, coming forward as an army strongman, announced Wednesday night that the army was "neutralizing" both Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu, the contestants in the Congo's own cold war for power, and that the Soviets and other Communists were being given 48 hours to get out of the country.

But Lumumba's spokesman, Serge Michel, a leftwing French expatriate, announced today that Lumumba was still in power.

"The prime minister is having a working session," he said. "Col. Mobutu is out of harm's way. He has been arrested."

No one in the Congolese capital was surprised by the announcement of what appeared to be the second coup in 12 hours—with possibly others being prepared.

Crowds of President Kasavubu's Abako party supporters were still marching through the city, joyful over Mobutu's coup and chanting for Lumumba's death.

Immediately after Michel's announcement of Mobutu's arrest, the Senate met for an emergency session that was four short of a quorum.

Earlier Mobutu had told newsmen that Lumumba was at Camp Leopold II, the main army camp at Leopoldville. This was taken to mean that he was in custody, but the wily premier may have been busy winning his jailers over as he did once before when he was arrested on Kasavubu's orders.

In the fast-changing situation, steel-helmeted U.N. soldiers dispersed troops of Congolese in the European quarters. U.N. Ghana troops waited behind machine guns.

Mobutu, 30, was named army chief of staff only Wednesday by Kasavubu. He had told newsmen that the embassies of the Soviet Union and her satellites were being shut down and the Red diplomats expelled.

He told a news conference the army was taking over rule in the strife-torn young African republic until some solution is reached in the deadlocked power struggle between Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Thousands Flee as Ethel Nears Coast

100 mph Winds Sweep Toward Gulf Lands

2 Persons Drowned; 50,000 Estimated To Have Fled Storm

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Ethel, her power drained considerably by colder air, moved toward the coast today with top winds estimated at 100 miles an hour.

A 6 a.m. (CST) Weather Bureau bulletin placed the center of the storm 80 miles south of Mobile and heading for the Mobile-Pensacola area at 15 miles per hour.

Tornadoes, an offshoot of the hurricane, struck in the Panama City, Fla., area today, 100 miles to the west. Power lines were knocked down and other property damaged by the twisters in the communities of West Bay and Springfield, the Florida Highway Patrol reported. No casualties were reported.

Two Persons Missing
The Coast Guard in New Orleans reported two persons were missing and presumed drowned after their boat capsized near the mouth of the Mississippi River about 90 miles southeast of New Orleans.

The center of the storm extended outward 100 miles to the northeast and 50 miles to the southwest, the Weather Bureau said.

One death was indirectly attributed to the storm. Juste Savioie, 68, a retired engineer, died in New Orleans of a heart attack while securing attic windows preparing for the storm. At first there were indications the hurricane would strike New Orleans. Authorities in the central Gulf Coast estimated at least 50,000 persons fled from the fury of the storm.

Soviet Strategy Based on Surprise Attack, U.S. Hears

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet leaders would not hesitate to launch a surprise nuclear attack on the United States if they thought this nation could be smashed with one stroke, a former Soviet naval officer says.

Capt. Nikolai Fedorovich Artamonov testified Wednesday that Soviet military strategy has been based on the doctrine of a surprise nuclear attack since February 1955.

Artamonov, 32, who was commander of a Soviet destroyer in the Baltic fleet, defected to the United States in June 1959 while stationed at Gdynia, Poland.

His appearance before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, however, provided the first public disclosure of his presence in this country.

He said he had been in the United States since shortly after he fled to the West, working with U. S. agencies he did not name.

He said he lives now in New York City, at an undisclosed address, without guards or any form of protection from Communist retaliation.

Despite Premier Nikita Khrushchev's repeated pronouncements favoring disarmament, Artamonov said, the Soviet doctrine of a surprise attack has been official since February 1955. He said it was spelled out in a Soviet military publication available only to high-ranking officers.

Kennedy Hits Ike's Policies

Democratic Nominee Touring New Jersey

With Kennedy in New Jersey (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said today America "can't stand still in the eye of the hurricane" of political change sweeping the world.

The Democratic presidential nominee pressed down the accelerator on a motorcade campaign tour of politically-doubtful New Jersey with an attack on Eisenhower administration policies he said are "losing the lead to Russia" in world affairs.

Picking Bergen Mall Shopping Center in Paramus for this assault, Kennedy said in a prepared address that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will bring the cold war to America's doorstep in the United Nations next week.

"And yet the administration has told us that all is well," he said. "In the 1930's while England slept, Hitler armed."

"Today, while we stand still, Khrushchev moves."

"We must learn to face the truth of our situation. You can't stand still in the eye of a hurricane. And hurricane winds of change are sweeping the world."

Kennedy said the summit collapse, the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan and hostile mobs in other parts of the world were "diplomatic disasters." To counter these, he said the United States must rebuild its military strength.

Striking at Vice President Richard M. Nixon's contention that he is best equipped to deal with belligerent Soviet leaders, Kennedy said: "The Russians understand strength. It is not a question of quarreling with Mr. Khrushchev. It is a question of making ourselves stronger than Russia. Talk is cheap."

Kennedy carried with him out of New York what appeared to be a new solidarity among party leaders who have been quarreling more or less openly over who shall do what in the campaign.

The Democratic nominee got a shot in the arm Wednesday night when former supporters of Adlai E. Stevenson, some of whom had been miffed because their man

Boy, 15, Harbors Injured Beaver; Must Pay $5 Fine

What started out to be a good deed resulted in an arrest for a 15-year-old Fredericktown youth.

Gabriel Von Ludman was arrested by County Game Protector Rufus Lide for harboring a beaver. The youth reported the beaver had been beaten by some boys who were swimming in the creek and left on the bank to die. He said he took the animal home to care for it and had intended to release it when it had recovered.

The youth appeared before County Court Judge Earl Spalding in East Palestine Wednesday and was fined $50 and costs, with all $5 being suspended. Judge Spalding felt that ignorance of the law was the cause for the incident since the boy only recently moved here from Germany.

Traffic cases heard by Judge Spalding Wednesday were as follows: Howard Hollabaugh, 67, of New Waterford, $20 and costs, failure to yield the right of way; Earl Edward Mitchell, 29, of Lisbon, $10 and costs, failure to stop at an intersection; Janet E. Gillis, 37, of East Palestine, $10 and costs, failure to yield the right of way; Delbert S. Ward, 49, of East Palestine, $25 and costs, operating on an expired driver's license; John W. Howell, 39, of East Liverpool, $50 and costs, false registration; Velora Laughlin, 47, of East Liverpool, $15 and costs, driving left of center.

Missing Coors' Clothes Found

May Provide Key To Disappearance

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The discovery of the bones of a six-foot man and the clothing of Adolph Coors III provided the FBI today with a possible key to the disappearance of the millionaire brewer seven months ago.

The grisly find was made at a trash dump in the Rocky Mountain foothills 12 miles west of Castle Rock, south of Denver.

This is 25 miles from the rural bridge where Coors' abandoned truck was found last Feb. 9. He had left his mountain home that morning enroute to work at the Adolph Coors Co. plant at Golden.

Agents and sheriff's officers are continuing the search for the skull and other bones they said are required for identification. A pathologist has said the bones already found are those of an adult male about six feet tall.

A truck driver on a target shooting outing, Edward Green, 30, of Englewood, found the clothing last Sunday.

He said he first found the shoes, about four feet apart, then a wadded pair of pants.

"I kicked at them and heard a jingling noise. I looked in the pockets and found 43 cents and a keychain. There was a silver pocket knife on the chain, monogrammed with the initials 'AC III.' I knew right away whose they were."

Green returned to the Denver area and advised a policeman friend, who called the FBI.

The FBI did not disclose the information until Wednesday.

Coors' wife and four children have been in seclusion since his disappearance.

His parents and brother, Joseph Coors, are vacationing at Nantucket, Mass.

Appearance of Flemming Confirmed

Ernest U. Whitacre of Salem, county GOP chairman, announced today that word has been received from Washington, D.C., confirming the appearance of Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, at the county-wide GOP ox roast rally.

The rally, which was originally planned for Sept. 17, has been rescheduled for Saturday afternoon, Oct. 1, at the Columbiana County Fairgrounds.

The appearance by Flemming, former president of Ohio Wesleyan University, and member of the Eisenhower cabinet since 1953, will highlight the co-ordinal program being planned by the County Republican Committee for the rally.

Lauds U.S. Space Program

Vice President Makes Pitch for Labor Votes

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon wooed labor votes today after a free-wheeling news conference assertion he won't be downhearted if the Soviet Union puts the first man into space.

The Republican presidential nominee told reporters it was "hard to say" whether such a Soviet achievement would have an adverse effect on his candidacy.

But if it does happen, he said, "our own program is coming along splendidly, and if they do move ahead, they won't stay there long."

That was at a televised press conference in Peoria, Ill., before he spoke in Bradley University's Field House to a cheering crowd of some 10,000 persons.

Then he flew into St. Louis on the heels of Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic rival, for an address before the convention of the million-member International Association of Machinists.

Nixon said upon his arrival here Wednesday night that he expected the union would endorse Kennedy. But, he told an interviewer, "I appreciate the invitation to address the convention—who knows, I may pick up a few votes."

Kennedy addressed the convention Wednesday.

Nixon arrived at St. Louis Municipal Airport at 11 p.m. and was greeted by a police-estimated crowd of 5,000.

"It caps a wonderful day of campaigning for us," Nixon told the gathering as his wife, Pat, stood by his side. "When you see a crowd like this at this time of night in a state that is supposed to be hopelessly on the other side, believe me, things are happening."

The crowd was only about half of that which turned out for Kennedy the night before when he arrived some three hours earlier.

Nixon speaks at 8:15 a.m. before flying to Atlantic City, N.J., to address the National Federation of Republican Women. From there, he will fly to Roanoke, Va., for his fourth campaign invasion of the South.

Admiral Charged With Smuggling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) The newly-retired admiral and his wife returned from Guam to a $110,000 home in suburban Kentfield, and authorities said they each declared a gallon of tax free liquor as allowed.

Wednesday the government charged Rear Adm. William L. Erdmann, 57, a much decorated former Navy commander at Guam, smuggled home 42 cases (504 bottles) of choice tax-free liquor.

"It's news to me," the Annapolis graduate said of the indictment.

"I can't comment at this time, but I suppose I'll have my inning in court."

His first inning came when he posted $1,000 bail. The second comes Sept. 23 when he appears for comment later Wednesday.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Donald Constine said the liquor was bought at the Navy officers mess on Guam at reduced tax-free prices.

He said it was shipped in a metal container—labeled "household goods"—on the carrier Bon Homme Richard from Guam to San Francisco.

If convicted, Erdmann faces maximum possible penalties of 12 years in prison and $35,000 in fines plus loss of his pension of $12,150 a year.

28 Pay Fines In Court On Traffic Counts

In recent cases heard in Judge Luther Donbar's Northwest County Court here, a total of $645.95 in fines and forfeitures was collected from 28 persons charged with traffic offenses.

Stiffest penalty was levied against James Wyatt Jr. of RD 1, Homeworth, who was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to county jail for three days on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Others fined included Ray Rushe Jr. of Canton, $14.70, improper backing; Frank Lesick Jr. of RD 4, Salem, $19.70, reckless operation; Earl T. Ockerman of RD 1, Columbiana, $9.70, failure to file for registration and $14.70, no muffler; Dennis A. Furgiele of Alliance, $29.70, fictitious plates; George J. Columbiana Swim Pool Attendance Shows Dip

COLUMBIANA — Swimming pool attendance at Firestone Park was down about 20 per cent during the recent season when compared with admissions during the summer of 1959, according to Perry Kyser, manager of the recreational park.

Pool admissions totaled about 44,000 from the Decoration Day opening to the Labor Day closing. In 1959, total attendance ran about 55,000 he said.

GERALD RYAN of East Liverpool, regional director for the Ohio Republican campaign committee, will speak at the Columbiana Republican Women's Club meeting on Monday at 8 p.m. in the high school. "Knock on Any Door," a film for campaign workers, will be shown.

Mrs. J. H. Hunt, president of the Columbiana club, attended the Ohio Republican convention Monday in Columbus as an alternate from the 18th District. Henry Cabot Lodge, vice presidential nominee, was the speaker.

The club has issued a list of names of volunteers who helped to make the club's booth during the last week's street fair. The workers were: Mrs. Oscar Biehshelt, Mrs. Hugh Kendall, Mrs. Bertha Marvin, Mrs. Aden Lynn, Mrs. Wilbur Ward, Mrs. Mae Fritch, Mrs. Fred Koehler, Mrs. Raymond Snoke, Mrs. Arthur Myers, Mrs. Arthur Dillon, Mrs. Hazel Rearick, Miss Mae Frye, Mrs. Carl Fisher, Mrs. Beulah Zellers, Mrs. Reuben Tyson, Miss Bertha Shontz, Mrs. Curtis Bierly, Mrs. Walter Firestone, Mrs. Boyd Cunningham, Miss Margaret Morrow, Mrs. Harry Oesch, Mrs. William Stockman, Mrs. Hunt, Boyd Cunningham, R. County Nets $4,343 In State Patrol Fines LISBON — Columbiana County's three county courts in August paid a total of $4,343.55 to the county treasurer. The figure represented 55 per cent of state patrol fines which the county is permitted to retain.

A total of $2,839.25 was taken in on criminal cases and $1,504.30 on civil cases, Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey reports.

The state treasurer received $1,860.75 as Ohio's share of fines on state patrol cases.

A breakdown of the three courts follows: Salem, 126 criminal and 64 civil cases; East Palestine, 113 criminal and 46 civil cases; and Lisbon, 51 criminal and 19 civil cases.

Lisbon Driver Cited Following Accident

LISBON — Alex Margosiak, 46, of Youngstown was cited Wednesday at 8:55 a.m. for failing to yield the right of way after his truck struck a pick-up truck driven by Edward A. Shattuck, 18, of 127 E. Pine St.

Police said Shattuck was driving north on Jefferson St. when Margosiak, going east on Lincoln Way, failed to see the stop light because of the sun in his eyes, and struck the pick-up truck.

INSPECT CHAGRIN VALLEY

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP)—U. S. Rep. Robert E. Cook, a member of the House Public Works Committee and Democratic congressman from the 11th Ohio District, inspected the Chagrin River valley Wednesday in company with other officials.

The Army Corps of engineers is preparing for a $42,000 flood control survey there, where four persons drowned in a flood two years ago. Cook praised Willoughby Hills residents for raising $15,000 by public subscription to construction a 900-foot-long runoff channel across a bend in the river at Horseshoe Glen.

Gets SFC Position

Jerome J. Kaufman

Jerome J. Kaufman of 195 W. 10th St. has been named executive vice president of the First Salem Corp., succeeding Merle K. Loucks, who moved to Florida. It was announced today by Walter J. Hunsion, president of SFC.

Kaufman, who is 32, will also continue as advertising consultant for the corporation, a post he has held since April 1.

A native of Salem, Kaufman attended Salem public schools and graduated from Culver Military Academy. He is former president of Infinity Advertising and Photographic Agency and for six years was a product illustrator with the Electric Furnace Co.

Mr. Kaufman and his wife, the former Elizabeth Ann Moser of Columbiana, have two children.

Brewer, a native of Spencer, Ohio, was active in Findlay civic affairs. He was a trustee of Findlay College. Survivors include his widow, Ruth, two daughters, and five sons.

Rural High Schools Plan 'College Night'

LISBON — Columbiana County's rural high schools — United, Salineville, Fairfield-Waterford and Beaver Local — have scheduled a "college night" for Nov. 15 when all juniors and seniors planning on entering college will meet at Beaver Local High School.

County Supt. James L. McBride was named chairman of a committee to set up this meeting for between 250 and 300 students.

About 10 colleges and training schools will be asked to send representatives to the session to discuss their college and answer questions on costs, subjects necessary for entrance and other pertinent topics.

Also serving on the committee will be Mrs. Marilyn Solak of Salineville, county high school consultant; Hubert Lawrence of Lisbon, county psychologist; David Habeger of Fairfield-Waterford; Joe Marra, United; Tom Leek, Salineville, and Franklin Sturgeon of Beaver Local.

CHILDREN POLIO VICTIMS

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 3-year-old West Side girl and a 3-year-old Willard boy are the latest polio cases admitted to Metropolitan General Hospital. Both children have paralytic type polio, Dr. J. Glen Smith, Cleveland health commissioner said.

There have been 13 cases and no deaths from infantile paralysis in Greater Cleveland this year, compared with 23 cases and two deaths in 1959 to this date.

Highlandtown Dam Project Explained

Real estate and personal property taxes are not paying for the construction of the Highlandtown Dam and hunting reserve in southern Columbiana County, it was emphasized today by State Representative Clarence L. Wetzel.

He announced that the project is to be engineered, designed and constructed between now and June 30, 1963.

It includes the purchase of 1,471 acres of land at a cost of $143,940 and the creation of an 180 acre lake. The lake, Wetzel says, will be used for fishing, boating and swimming.

Wetzel said this recreation area, like other similar projects, will be paid for out of the state's share

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

'Cloud Babies' Carry, Spread Infection

From a hospital comes a letter from a young mother who, after a month of "doctoring" for what appeared to be a carbuncle on the forefinger of the left hand, now faces amputation of the "tip bone of that finger." The infecting organism has proven to be a staphylococcus.

And after reading my recent column suggesting that a newborn infant might be the innocent carrier of this villainous "bug," she relates the following history and inquires whether her particular experience might not be another horrible example.

HER DAUGHTER, now nine and a half years old, came home from the hospital as a newborn infant with "a mess of baby impetigo."

She, the patient, had a breast abscess three years ago.

Her husband and one of her other daughters "had boils and carbuncles all last winter."

The daughter who originally had "baby impetigo" has had "a series of deep boils" from one of which her doctor grew a staphylococcus that was apparently identical with the strain that produced the infection that now threatens to cost the mother the tip of her finger.

"Could it be possible," the mother inquires, "The child has carried that germ all these (9½) years?"

I'M AFRAID the answer is "quite probably."

These "cloud babies," (as they've recently been christened by Dr. Heinz Eichenwald who writes of them in the Journal of the American Medical Assn.), are literally surrounded by swarms of bacteria innocent carriers of enemy staphylococci.

I hope that my colleagues who are caring for our correspondents will forgive me for presuming to make suggestions sight unseen, as it were, but a broad principle of medical treatment is involved in the answer to the young mother's natural inquiry as to the best method for attacking this complex problem.

These, I believe, are the necessary steps that must be taken to rid the household of the staphylococcal menace

1. Identification of the exact strain of organism involved in the epidemic;

2. TESTING of the strain against available antistaphylococcal agents;

3. Treatment of each member of the household with the chosen antistaphylococcal agent;

4. Thorough ventilation of the home from attic to cellar;

5. Prolonged boiling of household and personal linens before routine

washing and ironing;

6. Re-treatment of the entire group at the first sign of any re-suspension of staphylococcal invasion.

Time-consuming and expensive, you say? Not nearly as time-consuming as the mother's 16 days in the hospital. Not nearly as expensive as the tip of her finger.

Our Recreational Program

Cool weather may have cut down on the patronage of the Centennial Park swimming pool this summer, but the city's parks and playgrounds program as a whole showed increased attendance.

In fact, the number of boys and girls making use of the parks and supervised school-ground play facilities has been climbing year after year. This reflects a greater appreciation by the public of the activities offered.

Daily attendance figures were kept and when the season closed officially on Labor Day, the total was 10,436 for an average of 267 children each day.

There were years within the memory of many of Salem's now grown-up youngsters when the city's recreational facilities were something to be hoped for. Promotional work by interested persons and organizations, a more active park commission and voters' sanction of a park operating levy did the trick, although the results didn't come overnight.

Fortunately, the parks program is still growing and if Salem residents continue to show the same interest our community can have a recreational program second to none.

Winter-time activities are centered at the Memorial Building and the YWCA and there are still those among us who are optimistic enough to believe that someday an indoor swimming pool also will be a reality.

A wholesome recreational program is a compliment to the city.

Sen. Kennedy Has Cleared the Air

In his address before the Greater Houston Ministerial Assn., Sen. John F. Kennedy came to grips with the political difficulty created for him by his Roman Catholic religion.

The state of Texas, he knew, might be alienated by the doubt of its Protestants that a Roman Catholic in the White House could be independent of his church in making temporal decisions.

Sen. Kennedy resolved the doubt with the forthright statement that he would make all decisions in accordance with his own conscience, "without regard to outside religious pressures or dictates."

This affirmed what Sen. Kennedy had been saying ever since discussion of his religion entered the campaign, but this time it was said in a context and in a manner that cleared the air.

HE DECLARED that he, as a Roman Catholic in the United States, does not believe in the church-state connection that has given the Vatican powerful influence over Old World governments.

He said that his church and its leaders had no more right to advise him on public policy than Protestant ministers had to tell their parishioners how to vote.

Sen. Kennedy stated that public officials in the United States should not request or accept instructions on public policy either directly or indirectly from any ecclesiastical source seeking to impose its will on the general public.

Castro Now Becomes Batista

Nothing sheds less comfort on a politician living by the cold rules of survival than reminders that everything comes out even in the long run.

Fidel Castro, who came to power by overthrowing a revolution that had turned counter-revolutionary, now admits in a public speech that there is a new revolution in Cuba and that his own revolution is a counter-revolution.

What do the new revolutionists stand for? Freedom from high-handed oppression, of course.

They stand for the same thing that Castro's revolutionists stood for when they were trying to undermine and overthrow the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista.

They stand for the same thing that Batista's revolutionists stood for when they attacked the dictatorship of Gerardo Machado in 1931.

And, in the event the new revolution succeeds, it will follow the course of all governments that come to power through violence. It will try to live by the sword that eventually will destroy it.

Fidel Castro is an intelligent man, although he doesn't always talk like one. He knows the history of revolutionary movements in Cuba. The only difference between his and the ones that preceded it is the way his revolution switched colors and turned to the Soviet Union, to the chagrin of all who had backed it as a bona fide movement to free Cubans from Batista's dictatorship.

That may make a difference. Castro apparently thinks it will make so much difference that United States Marines will eventually rout the Russians; he keeps talking about this.

It affords insight into his state of mind. He has sensed what is obviously in the future for the Cubans. They and their "liberators" have become the prisoners of an Old World power.

This time, though, there will be no Americans to come to the rescue. If that new revolution that Castro says is brewing up in the hills doesn't materialize, Cuba would have been better off in the corrupt clutches of Spain.

Shore Leave

Business In Politics

By RAYMOND MOLEY

A new and incalculable element will appear in the results of this general election which may have great significance. This is the movement now widespread among business firms, in developing programs in political education.

There is little that suggests a pro-management or anti-labor intent in this and the methods adopted are perfectly legal.

The objective is to get as many individuals as possible with some managerial competence and education to do what is the manifest duty of every American. For the government will depend upon the number and variety of those who actively participate in politics.

THIS AWAKENING of management to its duty, however, stems in considerable part from the example of the labor unions that have had spectacular success in mobilizing the strength of their members in behalf of chosen candidates and issues.

Oopsy - Daisy

By TRUMAN TWILL

Lively interest always can be stirred up by discussions of education in this bootstrap-lifting republic. Americans are the original eager beavers when the subject is learning.

But they never ask the kids what they think about it. They're afraid they might find out something that would go contrary to their own thoughts — their own misconceptions.

Yes, misconceptions. Parents know no more about the educational experiences of their own children than a pig knows about Thanksgiving. They think of school as it was when they were making like pupils, which may have been when pupils still dipped water out of a wooden bucket with a gourd and carried wood for a base-burner.

They have no more idea than a rabbit what is being taught in schools now, and in many cases if they knew they'd be shocked. When they went to school, the fellow who taught physics was still droning that what went up had to come down and muttering that the smallest particle of matter was the atom which could not, of course, be split.

James Fenimore Cooper was still regarded as a contributor to American belles lettres. White men still were bearing their "burden" east of Suez, and what pupils learned in fuddy-duddy civics books bore no resemblance to anything even then in use in any government on earth.

Children were sewed up in heavy underwear from freezing to thawing each winter. Congo rhymed with bongo, no one had run a four-minute mile, and no one had heard of William Faulkner or the figures that would fill in the blank places on the chart of the elements that hung on the wall in the chemistry room.

That is the trouble with parents, relative to education. They say it's a great thing, because that's what they are supposed to say. But they resent the way education keeps rolling along and the way each generation must discover the world on its own terms. It's like the co-ed who wrote to her parents a generation ago that she weighed 110 pounds undressed for gym and they wired back in alarm, "Who's Gym?"

It takes a lot of parental moxie to push a birdling out of the nest when it's time for the big push that sends the poor thing fluttering away to college, where hungry cats will be waiting and all kinds of doubtful birds are going to be encountered.

Some of the experiences will not be good. Feathers will be ruffled.

Until that power began to make itself felt there had been regrettable lethargy in political campaigns among people who not only had real talents to help but had the most to lose by a spendthrift government.

Since Ohio has in past elections tended to indicate the trend nationally, I have had my assistant, Raymond Moley, Jr., visit the Cleveland area and report on the progress of the various programs of political education initiated by business firms here.

A sense of political responsibility in that area has been alive among businessmen for several years. In 1950 the labor union mobilized enormous efforts in money and manpower to try to defeat Sen. Taft, who had mortally offended labor leaders by sponsoring and putting through the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947.

Businessmen all over the state exerted prodigious efforts to get a big vote to the polls and the result was that Taft carried every industrial county.

Since then, the influence of businessmen in elections has been variable. The conservative Democrat Frank Lausche, generally supported by businessmen, held the governorship until elected to the Senate. Lausche was succeeded in the governorship by William O'Neill, a Republican. Sen. John Bricker, a perennial winner, was re-elected in 1952.

But in 1958, largely because a right-to-work amendment was put on the ballot without sufficient organized effort to promote it, there was a devastating Republican defeat all over the state.

From that experience, Ohio businessmen have had a severe and costly lesson.

IN THE CLEVELAND area a number of firms have specific programs for stimulating salaried employees to get into political activity. Among these are Republic Steel, Ford Motor, Ohio Bell Telephone, Diamond Alkali, General Electric, Cleveland Graphite Bronze, Ohio Standard Oil, and the Glidden Co.

The Republic Steel plan is very carefully prepared and elaborate. Its material, completely non-partisan, could be used not only among employees of the company but in colleges, schools, and civic groups.

Also, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's course in practical politics is widely used through Ohio. The Ford Motor program, which reaches several Ford plants in Ohio, comprises these parts: The collection of contributions from employees, to be given to the party designated by the donor; an "Effective Citizenship Course" for salaried employees; and a "Volunteers Program," which recruits workers for the parties.

Many hundreds of people have had some sort of training for effective citizenship through these efforts.

But it is emphasized that a "crash program" for this year alone is not enough. Most of the efforts look to the long pull two, four, six or eight years ahead.

Wise businessmen realize that, after their victory in 1950, with Taft reelected many felt that they had done enough and resumed the old apathy. This time, they are determined that their efforts shall have permanent results.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

Nikita's Reception

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U.S. Has Plenty of Propaganda Ammunition

What to do about Nikita Khrushchev's visit to New York is getting to be a bigger question mark for the moment than who is going to win the presidential election in November.

Two opposite views are prevalent. Harry Truman, for instance, expresses the opinion that Khrushchev should be ignored by the press because he has insulted our President, while Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says it's "silly" to restrict Khrushchev's movements to Manhattan Island as the Department of State has ordered.

It will be noted that Mrs. Roosevelt spoke her mind while visiting in London, where several British newspapers have been sharply critical of the American government's decision.

The trouble, of course, is that the British suffer from a historic affinity for politeness to dictators, and unwittingly they build up the ego of such men. Had they gotten tougher with Hitler in the 1930's, instead of playing up to him at "summit" conferences at Munich, there might not have been a second world war.

The issue between those who would embrace Khrushchev, or at least treat him just as if he were a sane and civilized diplomat, and those who would snub him spectacularly is not one that is going to be settled by public opinion.

If the American people had their way, they would prefer to have the Soviet dictator shipwrecked on a desert island — without vodka — during his voyage across the Atlantic this week.

THE GAME which he is planning to play at the United Nations meeting is one that has to be countered skillfully by the American government.

The Soviet dictator's speeches undoubtedly will add to the insults he flung at this country during the Paris summit Conference last May. There will have to be forceful responses this time from the American representatives.

As for the restrictions placed on Khrushchev's movements, this step was taken for two reasons.

First, the problem of affording protection to the Soviet dictator and his party might get beyond control as passions rise.

Second, the American government did not invite the Soviet dictator to tour the United States.

It will be recalled that he himself withdrew an invitation previously extended to President Eisenhower to visit Russia.

One reason given for the cancellation was that the political climate in Russia had altered and that the people there were in an antagonistic mood toward the United States. So it works both ways.

If the Soviet dictator thinks that, because the Eisenhower administration is winding up its term, the people here no longer care how many insults are flung at their president, he can be adequately informed of his mistake only by demonstrations of displeasure at his coming such as he will doubtless encounter next week.

Certainly the Hungarian refugees in the United States are not happy to see the Communist puppet who heads the Hungarian government coming here arm-in-arm with the Soviet dictator.

THE COMBINATION awakens bitter memories of the bloodshed of their Hungarian kinsmen — the brutality of tanks riding roughshod over the bodies of men, women and children in Budapest in 1956.

Khrushchev evidently thought that a mobilization at the United Nations of officials of the Communist bloc, including foreign ministers and premiers under his thumb, would impress the American people.

One is surprised to see Nasser of Egypt falling for the Khrushchev line and attaching himself to the group led by the Communist chieftain, but it will be recalled that the Egyptian dictator has been getting vast sums of money from Moscow for the Aswan Dam, and he must show some sense of reciprocity. A visit to the U.N. to please Khrushchev is a cheap price to pay.

This, however, is hardly the "neutrality" which so many of the newborn countries now claim to be their policy.

About all it proves is that the movement against "colonialism" was largely exploited by the Communists as a means of substituting their own brand of colonialism in the Middle East and Southeast Asia and now in Africa.

The attitude of the American people is unmistakably clear. If they had their way, they would prefer that the newspapers did not print a line about Khrushchev's visit or give space to his speeches. But the press, on the other hand, has learned from experience that suppression plays the game of the criminal and that exposure of the guilty is the best policy at all times.

CERTAINLY in the propaganda battle American officials are not to be passive.

There are plenty of charges that can be aired during the Khrushchev visit to the U.N. For one thing, his regime can be charged formally with treason against the U.N. during the last few weeks in the Congo.

Likewise, American speakers can demand that true independence be given to the countries now behind the Iron Curtain.

For what avail is it that Khrushchev should be crying out for independence for the black men of Africa, when millions of white men, yellow men and brown men in Europe and Asia are being held under the yoke of Communism?

There is lots to be said to Nikita Khrushchev during his coming visit and it is to be hoped that the American government will make some interesting news that will deflate Khrushchev's propaganda campaign.

Blessings of 1960

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The many seasons of our lives often go by like soldiers on parade, dressed so alike we hardly note them individually.

But now and then a season comes along that lives in your mind forever.

The summer of 1960 has been like that.

How will historians catalogue the summer of 1960?

They will mention it as a time of great political storm in almost all quarters of the world, of riots and spy trials and a summit meeting that failed.

They will write of the business boom that seemed stuck in mid-career.

They may even find reason to dwell at length on an unusual storm—a religious storm raised during the U.S. presidential campaign.

But for millions of us the various storms of this period will be less memorable than the calm we knew. For millions of us lived quietly in the very eye of each passing hurricane of this troubled summer, and will remember it kindly for the small untroubled pleasures it brought.

Here's one man's list of blessings:

Here in Manhattan the temperature never hit 90 degrees.

Many worried over the global population explosion, but in our house we still felt glad because our 7-year-old daughter grew an inch or so in height and five pounds in weight. We were sure a crowded world wouldn't begrudge her this added space.

Summer always has its casualties, but the toll in our family was small. This is the box score: Bitten by mosquitoes: Man of house, 15 times; lady of house, 12 times.

Stepped on live bee: One daughter—once.

Afflicted with poison ivy: None.

Attacked by sharks: None.

"It's been such a nice summer—I hate to see it go," many people are saying. And that is what they will remember, in the years when names like Khrushchev and Castro and Lumumba fade from the mind.

Won't you, too?

Well-dressed spectators had to run for cover after a successful shot to save their garments.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 32 and have held semi-executive jobs ever since I was graduated from college. I've had three babies in the last seven years and worked through all three pregnancies. The last baby was almost born in the office.

I'm not complaining, because I felt good all the way through. Last month I kept to-the-penny records and discovered that after I paid my housekeeper and laundry, added the taxi, lunch and bus fares, payroll deductions and income tax on my salary, I cleared $77.50 for the month. This does not include money spent on clothes which I wouldn't need if I stayed home.

I told my husband I want to quit work. He grieved panicky and said, "We can't make it on one pay check. You'll have to stay with it."

I want to quit. What do you say?—PLAIN PRACTICAL.

Dear Practical: I say quit. Most families manage on one check and yours can, too.

Your children need you more than you need the $77.50 a month. Your husband is unfair to insist that you stay in the harness after you've told him you prefer to stay home.

If you don't get out now, when it makes sense, you'll be totin' that barle and liftin' that bale for the rest of your life.

Rekindling Old Flame

Dear Ann: I am a charter member of the "I-Wish-I-Had-It-To-Do-Over-Again" Club. I started to date a terrific girl about a year ago. We are both in our early 20s and should have known better than to see each other every night for months.

Well, the inevitable happened. Pretty soon the big attraction was sex and we hardly talked or went any place interesting. You know the old story.

We broke up after three months. I've dated many girls since and she's gone out with different fellows.

Now I've begun to think of her again and I want to date her, but this time on the straight and narrow. Is it possible for a couple to behave themselves after they've had a sizzling affair?—STEVE.

Dear Steve: It's possible, but unlikely. To revive a once-intimate relationship on a restrained basis takes a strong will and a stronger won't. You also need co-operation from the girl.

Talk it over with her and make it plain you'd like to start dating her again — this time within moral limits.

Taught by Experience

Dear Ann: I'd like to say a few words to the girl who is considering marrying "a nice young American-born man whose grammar and pronunciation are embarrassing."

Many years ago I thought if I corrected my sweetheart tactfully he'd improve. Before our marriage he sat silent when I corrected him. After marriage he let loose with language that is unprintable.

When the children were young they asked him why he said "munt" for month and "wit ya" for "with you."

They got the same response I did — a string of profanity.

Now the grandchildren are asking the same question. You have often said in your column, Ann: Marriage is not a reform school. I'd like to add, "nor is it a postgraduate course in English."

If the fellow doesn't speak correctly by the time he's out of school — he never will. —NO TEACHER.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ATOMIC TARGET

AN ATOM SMASHER
A Schematic Drawing

NUCLEAR SLINGSHOT—The steps to destruction of an atomic nucleus are diagrammed in this greatly simplified schematic drawing of an atom smasher. Particle "bullets" are fed into an airless tube, guided by electromagnets and accelerated by booster magnets to speeds approaching that of light. Then they are hurled at the atomic target, splitting its nucleus and releasing its tremendous power.

Program Theme Carried Out
"Table Settings in Color" was the program theme for the evening. A breakfast table in red and white was presented by Mrs. Charles Matveit, Mrs. William Mackey, Mrs. Roth and Mrs. Ospek.

A luncheon table in yellow and gray was featured by Mrs. Orein Naragon, Mrs. Skowron, Mrs. Richard Lawrence and Mrs. Don Harvey. The formal dinner table in pink and white was made by Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Robert Rheutan, Mrs. Donald Reichert and Mrs. Leo Edwards.

A buffet table in shades of deep blue, pink and white, was created by Mrs. Massa, Mrs. Peterson, Mr. Horning and Mrs. Lutsch.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Albert Catlos, chairman, Mrs. Reichert and Mrs. Matveit.

Mrs. Louis Weirich, program chairman, announced that Daniel E. Smith, local jeweler, will be guest speaker at the Oct. 10 meeting at 8 p.m. in the Smucker House.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — City Council by a 9-4 vote Tuesday night adopted a license-fee report that would raise fees for bowling alleys from $25 to $75 a year and increase permit charges from $5 to $10 per alley. The solons tabled a city income tax issue and a plan to make Cleveland and McKinley avenues one-way streets.

Freedom Preservation Theme As DAR Resumes Meetings

Phoebe Frances Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will open its fall term with a meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Arch Wentz of 620 E. 3rd St. Mrs. Jesse Beck and Mrs. W. W. Brown will be associate hostesses.

Theme for the new year's program is "What Avail if Freedom Fail?"

In observance of "Constitution Day," Mrs. Beck will present Monday night's topic, "The Constitution and National Defense."

Officers for the 1960-61 term are: Regent, Mrs. Donald Reichert; vice regent, Mrs. Charles Oertel; chaplain, Mrs. W. H. Vanskiver; secretary, Mrs. Joseph Boone; treasurer, Mrs. Irving Megral; registrar, Mrs. Arch Wentz; historian, Mrs. Willard Hetrick; and librarian, Mrs. E. E. Logue.

Purpose of the organization is to cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all blessings of liberty.

In keeping with that purpose, theme for the new year's program is "What Avail if Freedom Fail?" Programs relating to the theme have been planned for the regular meeting dates, the third Monday evening of each month.

Mrs. Charles Oertel heads the program committee comprised of Mrs. Beck, Mrs. William Corso, Mrs. Boone, Mrs. Wentz and Mrs. Reichert.

Deaths and Funerals

Jesse S. Perkins

Jesse Sturgeon Perkins, 77, of the Damascus Road died at the Central Clinic at 4:20 a.m. today. He had been ill of complications one week.

Born in Leetonia, July 14, 1883, he was a son of John W. and Jenny Henderson Perkins.

His wife, Mary Ann Perkins, preceded him in death in 1930. He is survived by a son, Leonard of Salem; four grandchildren; and a niece, Mrs. Betty Nease of Maximo. A son, Jack, died in 1948.

He lived in Salem most of his life and was a millwright at Mullins and the American Standard Corp. plant for 27 years. He was a member of Perry Lodge F & A.M. and the Independent Hose Co.

Service will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home with Rev. Harold Deitch officiating.

Burial will be in Hope Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening.

Miss Sophia Sell

LISBON — Miss Sophia Sell, 87, of 125 Morton t., died Wednesday at 12:55 a.m. at the Salem City Hospital after an illness of one week.

Born April 15, 1873 in Dunganon, she was a daughter of Dennis and Christina Hank Sell. She lived her entire life in this vicinity.

She was a member of St. George's Church and the Altar and Rosary Society.

Surviving are two nieces and a nephew, whom she reared, Mrs. Mary Ruckel of the home, Mrs. Margaret Meyer of Canton and Paul Sell of Bordentown, N.J.

Services will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at St. George's Church, with the Rev. Fr. William Hohman in charge. Burial will be in Dunganon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. James Richardson

COLUMBIANA — Mrs. Mary M. Richardson, 77, of W. Park Ave. died Wednesday at 10:45 a.m. in Salem City Hospital, where she was admitted Monday evening.

Born Aug. 12, 1883 in Eldersville, Pa., she was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shields.

She married James Alonzo Richardson July 31, 1901. He died two years ago.

She lived in Steubenville before coming to Columbiana in 1920. She clerked in Tidd's Department Store several years and owned and operated the Vogue Shop here. She was an active member of the Methodist Church, taught a Sunday School class, and was a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

She is survived by two sons, Clyde and Robert, both of Columbiana; three daughters, Mrs. Betty Palmer of York, Pa.; Mrs. Mable Crook of Leetonia and Mrs. Merle Strausbaugh of Warren; seven grandchildren; and 12 great-grandchildren.

Service will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Warrick Funeral Home with Rev. W. S. Longworth officiating.

Burial will be in Columbiana Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening.

Two U.S. Tax Claims Settled In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two large tax claims were settled at reduced figures in U.S. Tax Court Wednesday, and stipulations for settlement of two other big government tax claims were filed, also at reduced rate.

Claims totaling $73,019 against Felix Arment of Cuyahoga Falls and the estate of his wife, Pierine Marie, who died in 1957, were settled for $54,093, including $24,203 in penalties. Joint income tax returns from the couple from 1946 to 1956 were involved.

Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., of Canton, settled a $139,540 claim on income taxes for 1955-56 for $95,588. The claim involved payments made to widows of company officers.

A stipulation was filed reducing a $397,707 income tax claim against Sydney J. Rudolph, Lorain jeweler, to $250,000, including $75,285 in penalties.

Joseph Koza of Campbell, charged with failing to file complete returns on numbers and pinball machine gambling operations income in 1952-1953-1954 must pay $30,022, including $9,936 in penalties, under the newly reached stipulation. He had been charged with owing $45,440.

COURT LIMITS PICKETING

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — A limit of four pickets at the plant entrance and a restraint on their interfering with persons entering Perry Rubber Co. was issued by Common Pleas Judge George N. Graham Wednesday. About 100 pickets were at the plant Wednesday, and one was struck by a car trying to go through their line.

The company, employing 230, was struck Aug. 24 by the United Rubber Workers, and company president M. C. Bonar said Wednesday "we're going to make every effort to open the plant."

NEW COMET — For 1961, Comet continues the styling which has made it one of the most sought-after compacts in the market. A new grille and modest ornamental changes identify the 1961 models of the two and four-door sedans and the two and four-door station wagons. In addition to the standard 85 horsepower economy engine, the 1961 Comet offers an optional 101 horsepower six.

A LETTER FROM MAMMA

Dear Charlie:

Well, son, now that you're plannin' to peddle my egg noodles, be sure to tell all the folks that they're the only nationally advertised noodle on the market, and they have a special super duper taste with that added Mt. Idy flavorin'. Oh! yes, son, tell the folks also that my noodles are a once in a lifetime chance for those who have some loafin' dollars stashed away in their mattresses. And by the way, Charlie, if they want to use their "noodle" and invest their loafin' dollars, tell them there is still some stock available, and to get in touch with Mr. Miller, (young Jim that is). He lives at 307 Cleveland N. W. Canton, Ohio. If he ain't home, they kin phone him up at QuakerTown Foods, Inc. at 714 South Broadway in Salem. I think these folks' number is ED 2-1515.

FICTION

"Diana" by R.F. Delderfield. A novel in the romantic tradition of an earlier period, this is better written than the average, and will hold the attention. Diana was rich and John was poor — they met when her father's game warden caught him poaching. They fell in love when they were only 14, but the path of true love doesn't run smooth.

"This Demi-Paradise" by Margaret Halsey. Sub-titled A Westchester Diary, this particular form gives Miss Halsey a chance to use to good effect her ability to make devastating remarks about human foibles. It gives her an opportunity also to show off her not inconsiderable but sometimes barbed wit, and her over-developed bump of humor.

"The Householder" by R. Prawer Jhabvala. Extremely young, extremely shy, Prem is a teacher in New Delhi. He feels the burden of establishing and maintaining a household is really too much for him. And when his wife finds that they are to have a child, and insists that he must make more money, his troubles seem altogether too much. The author gives us a lively and charming picture of the ordinary people of India, and shows them with problems common to all people.

"Watcher in the Shadows" by Geoffrey Household is the story of a manhunt, of a protracted duel between two former intelligence agents. One of them happens to be a murderer, and the tale that hangs thereby is a fascinating one.

"Follow Me" by Heleen Reilly. A mystery including a search for a missing fortune and a missing man.

NON-FICTION

"Taken at the Flood" by John Gunther. A biography of the millionaire head of Lord & Thomas, an advertising agency, who was a philanthropist, an art collector, and a crusader with a great deal of influence on sports, politics, medical research. This man was Albert D. Lasker. Mr. Gunther tells his story with warmth and humor.

"The Archie Moore Story" by Archie Moore. The famed lightweight champion of the world and holder of the world's record for knockouts traces his career in the boxing ring, with its many disappointments and successes.

"The Cheerful Day" by Nan Fairbrother. This author's two previous books told about her life in the country so charmingly that one never forgets them. In this latest one the family has moved to London, and she describes with equal charm the process of everyone's getting used to such a vastly different place and way of life.

"The Chord of Steel" by Thomas B. Costain. Alexander Graham Bell, his home town, and his experiments, as Mr. Costain has reconstructed them. They both lived in the same town, and Mr. Costain knew Mr. Bell when he was an old gentleman. This is quite different from the majority of Costain's writing, but interesting nonetheless.

"The Liberal Hour" by John Kenneth Galbraith. The author of "The Affluent Society" discusses our economic race with Russia, inflation, what he considers wrong interpretations of history, and humorous comments on other aspects of American life.

"Everybody's Book of Better Speaking" by Dorothy Uris. A well-known speech consultant and therapist offers practical advice and suggestions for developing good speech habits; even ways to keep your voice young.

"Walk and be Happy" by Benjamin Kauth. Dr. Kauth is a foot specialist, and here tells how to care for the feet of everyone in the family. He discusses specific foot ailments, how to buy and care for shoes, gives foot exercises, even gives a brief history of styles in footwear.

"Walking the Indian Streets" by Ved Mehta. An Indian goes back to India after 10 years at school in England and America. He is a sensitive and intelligent man. He writes with clarity and honesty of his home, his family, his country.

"Hawaii, Fiftieth State" by Charles A. Borden. There seems to be no end to the new books on Hawaii. This one is by a man who lived in the area for twenty years. The profuse black-and-white illustrations are good. The print is especially clear and attractive to look at. Mr. Borden has tried to give an over-all picture of the island together with a brief resume of its history. He gives some account of its present educational system, which is very hard to find usually.

"Catholic Viewpoint on Church and State" by Jerome G. Kerwin. An outstanding Catholic political scientist gives a historical summary of theories of church-state relationships, comes on down to modern times. He describes the confusion in law relating to these issues and points out conflicting Supreme Court decisions. He points out faults in Catholic and non-Catholic viewpoints alike, and makes recommendations which he hopes would improve the religious atmosphere in the United States.

"The Flag Book" by Preben Kanik; illustrated by Wilhelm Petersen. A new edition of this handy little guide contains flags of Alaska and Hawaii, Ghana and some of the other new nations.

"Medieval Village, Manor and Monastery" by G. G. Coulton. Known in England as a user of controversial methods, Mr. Coulton is perhaps the best authority on this subject alive today. Whereas most authors emphasize the pagantry and color of the lords and ladies of feudal times, this author discusses in detail the hold that the lord had over his vassal, the miserable conditions of the peasants, and the slight chance that they had of bettering their lot. Excellent reference material.

NON-FICTION

"Enjoy, Enjoy" by Harry Golden. A worthy successor to "Only in America" and "For 2 Cents Plain", this volume contains more of the shrewd and delightful comments by this always popular publisher of the "Carolina Israelite".

"Emily Dickinson's Poetry" by Charles R. Anderson. Although Emily Dickinson has been admired as a poet for more than 50 years and many editions of her poems have been published, this is the first critical analysis of the whole body of her poetry. Critics have been uniformly complimentary to the task Mr. Anderson has performed. This is a book which will no doubt be interesting and useful for years to come.

"A Pictorial Guide to American Gardens" by Louis H. Froman and Jean Elliot. This book purports to be a comprehensive guide to all gardens, both publicly and privately owned, which are open to the public. The arrangement is regional and full information is given on how to reach each garden. Also given is the time of year the garden is open for viewing, entrance fee, and what its specialties are.

"The Years of the War Birds" by Arch Whitehouse. The planes, equipment, pilots and combat from 1939 to 1945. Mr. Whitehouse was a pilot in World War I and a correspondent in World War II. He takes up significant events chronologically, gives accounts of many specific assignments.

"The Greatest Raid of All" by C. E. Lucas Phillips. On March 27, 1942, a commando raid rammed an explosive-laden destroyer into the great repair dock at St. Nazaire and practically immobilized the nearly invincible Tirpitz of the German Navy. This book tells in detail the preparation for and the carrying-out of that raid.

"The Dayuma Story" by Ethel Emily Wallace. Dayuma was an Auka Indian of South America who escaped to a Spanish plantation after the murder of her father and this is the story of what she remembered some years after. The Aucas had murdered her brother and four other missionaries—she knew they desperately needed the message of Christianity that she had to give them.

"The Lighted Heart" by Elizabeth Yates. An intimate story of how a young couple adjust to the husband's becoming blind. As Bill put it, they had always dreamed of living in the country some day, so they would just move their schedule up a few years and do it right away. If you feel in the mood to complain about your lot in life, try reading this.

"You Learn by Living" by Eleanor Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt gets about a hundred letters every day. A large proportion of these letters have questions about how to live more effectively. This book represents some conclusions Mrs. Roosevelt has reached about how she thinks she has learned to adjust to life.

"The Conspirators" by Geoffrey Bailey. After the Russian revolution, from 1920 to 1938, agents and counter agents, spies, spies on spies—from both other nations and Russia itself—were busy at work plotting the destruction of the Russian government.

"The Operators" by Frank Gibney. How much do shady deals cost every American every day of the year? Mr. Gibney points out quite a few billions in many different areas of public and private life, from the executive who appropriates company property for his private use to the seller of beautifully engraved shares of stock in non-existent mines. The disturbing fact is not that all of this exists but that it is so widespread and that such a large proportion of our people find little to condemn it sharp practices—at least as long as the ones who do this double-dealing are not caught.

"High Country Empire" by Robert G. Athearn. The great Northwest is here given a vivid and colorful history from the time it was almost unknown to the white man until our own time, the fur traders, the gold seekers, the cattle barons, the sodbusters in turn came and took from the land all that they wanted of what it had to give.

"Tomorrow Will Be Sober" by Lincoln Williams. A physician gives a modern, hopeful and sensible approach to understanding and treating alcoholism. Will help the alcoholic, his family or his friends to help himself.

"To Know the Difference" by Albert D. Ullman. A sociologist discusses from his professional viewpoint the alcoholic and his relation to other people. He says he has interviewed alcoholics for 14 years to get together the material for this book. His conclusions are quite different from those of most people who have discussed the problem.

FICTION

"A Silence of Desire" by Kamala Markandaya. Set in present-day India, this is the story of a few critical months in a hitherto serene marriage. A government clerk becomes suspicious of his wife and eventually the entire family, and even his co-workers and office superiors are drawn into the net of conjecture and disbelief.

Miss Markandaya is one of the top three Indians writing today. Her novels are extremely sensitive in their approach to the universal elements of human nature, but still all her characters are distinctly Indian.

"Lament for a City" by Henry

Beetle Hough. Editor Cornelius Tyler writes a history of his paper and incidentally of the town in which he lives. Much has changed during the lifetime of the paper, some for the better and some for the worse, but it is all told in a manner so interesting you will be sure it must be fact and not the fiction it is.

"Earth Ginat" by Edison Marshall. The legend of Hercules written as a novel about an extraordinary but real man. Mr. Marshall's Hercules is not extremely bright, he likes women enough to keep himself in trouble most of the time, but he performs physical feats which no other human could have done.

"The Numbered Account" by Ann Bridge. Willy and attractive Julia Probyn of "The Light-heart Quest" once again comes to the rescue of British Intelligence when Russian spies in Geneva steal top-secret information from a numbered account belonging to Julia's brother's fiancée.

Journey to Shanghai --- 2

Imprisoned Bishop Says Brother's Visit Was 'Greatest Consolation'

Editor's Note—"The greatest human consolation" he ever received—that's how Bishop James Edward Walsh, imprisoned in Communist China, described the visit of his brother, former Maryland Attorney General William C. Walsh. This is another in a series of articles on Walsh's journey to Shanghai.

By WILLIAM C. WALSH

The day after my arrival in Shanghai, I visited my brother, Bishop James Edward Walsh, for the first time.

He was being held in Shanghai jail, serving a 20-year sentence on charges of espionage. Mr. Li, an official of the Communist Chinese Red Cross, and Mr. Shen, an interpreter, called at my hotel and took me by car to the walled prison.

I went in, accompanied by the Chinese Red Cross representative, and entered a room in the prison building where a white-coated guard was seated at a table. I was asked to fill out an application, in duplicate—giving my name, relationship to the prisoner, listing any articles I wanted to give him, and certain other information including my telephone number. I gave them my residence phone number at Cumberland, Md.

Taken To Another Room

I was also required to turn over any articles for the prisoner. After complying with these formalities, I was taken to another room where I met the prison official who was to preside over the interview. With him was an interpreter. The guard who had taken my application also accompanied me into the room, and in the back sat a photographer.

Seated at an oblong table with the prison official and interpreter on the other side, I was then read the regulations governing visits to the prison.

Among other things, these stated that no written message could be given to the prisoner, no notes, cameras or recording devices could be taken to the interview; there could be no discussion of the charges against the prisoner or his trial; that all letters and gifts were subject to approval by prison authorities, and that he could be given necessities only; that the interview was limited to 30 minutes and would be ended instantly if improper matters were discussed.

My brother and I then talked about various members of the family. A little later I asked him if he wished any efforts made to obtain his release from prison. I asked because some three or four years ago he had been authorized by the Chinese authorities to leave China but had refused on the grounds that he wanted to remain with the Chinese people, among whom he had worked most of his life.

The interpreter began talking to the prison official about this question, but before it was ruled out of order, my brother said:

Future in Hands of God

"While no one likes to be confined, I am not unhappy here, and I leave the future entirely in hands of God."

The interpreter told me the subject could not be pursued.

My brother appeared to be well. He did not seem depressed, but on the contrary in good spirits. He told me that my visit was the greatest human consolation he had ever received.

He said he was in the prison's hospital section, not because of any illness but because of his age—69. He seemed somewhat thin, but then he never was very robust, and he told me he weighed 135 pounds, his customary weight.

My brother also told me he had a bed to sleep on; received three meals a day which, though plain were sufficient; that he was allowed to exercise outside twice daily; that he had a cellmate who was apparently Chinese but who could speak English.

He doesn't have his breviary or any other religious books, nor does he have a rosary. As a present repressing the 50th anniversary of our graduation, the authorities of Mount St. Mary's College had provided a gold rosary for the surviving members of the class of 1910.

I was allowed to give my brother a box of cigars, some cookies and candy, a fountain pen, some stationery, some clothing and two pictures of my grandchildren.

He told me he was receiving the customary two Red Cross packages each month and that he had an ample supply of cigarettes. Apparently, he is allowed to smoke only three or four a day.

On my final visit I also left with the prison authorities my own prayer book, a small one, asking that it be returned to me if my brother did not receive it. I was told the book would have to be inspected, and while I tried to find out about it before I left, I was told it was still under inspection. So I don't know whether or not he got it.

Photographer Taking Pictures

At my first interview with my brother, a photographer was taking pictures. I asked the prison official whether one could be taken of my brother and me together, and this was done in the prison yard. A few days later a Chinese Red Cross representative brought me a print of this picture and also of one taken inside.

I was allowed to visit my brother on Aug. 4, Aug. 8 and Aug. 11. I have tried to give an accurate account of the interviews with my brother. I am not complaining about either the length or their numbers. I appreciate very much having been allowed to see him, and I am very grateful to the Red Cross Society of China for obtaining the permission for me, and to the Chinese authorities who granted them.

Shortly before the end of the last visit, we discussed the possibility of our seeing each other again.

I told him that if I could not get back we would not see each other again unless he got out, and he said, "We will meet in heaven."

I was somewhat upset. I remembered from the time our picture was taken in the prison yard that I could see him from the window in the room, walking across the yard to a passageway between two buildings.

I went to the window and pulled aside the curtain but as the lower part of the window was painted, I could not see through. However, the interpreter helped me to open the window. When it was opened, my brother was perhaps 10 or 12 feet from the passageway.

I called to him. He turned towards the window. We waved to each other and I said, "So long, James," and then he disappeared in the passageway.

Next: Communist Shanghai.

TWIN or FULL SIZE

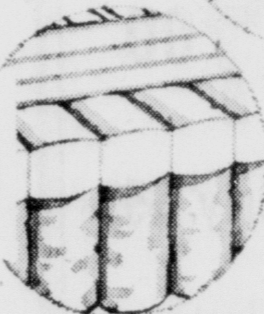

No more a real treat in store when you sleep-test this mattress! Tension-soothing, buoyant, yet it gives proper support. Coils move individually, so you won't disturb a soul no matter how enthusiastically you turn over! Turn over a new leaf now with this Cloud-Nine buy (before we come to our senses and raise this Dream-World price!) For sheer perfection: the matching box spring, too.

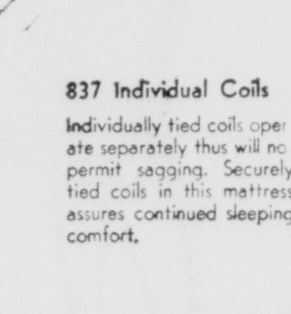

Seat-edge Construction
Sit any place! Bounce all you like! This edge won't break down or sag, not even if your children use this mattress for a trampoline!

Muslin-Pocketed Springs
Mother, you won't even notice when Dad tosses and turns... because only the coils pushed down are the ones that move. The others stay in place.

Patented Insulo Cushion
Firmly quilted and secured to the inner-spring unit, this extra three inches of felt means an extra measure of sleeping comfort and enjoyment for you.

837 Individual Coils
Individually tied coils operate separately, thus will not permit sagging. Securely tied coils in this mattress assure continued sleeping comfort.

You Can Order By Phone.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

A skull session was held in a labor headquarters in Washington not too many months ago on where there might be untapped pools of votes — by the millions — for the Democratic-Labor coalition. Those men, gathered in the Industrial Union Dept. headed by Walter Reuther, soon decided to concentrate on a bloc of 12.5 million people.

They are the men and women over 65 who are bound together by one very slender strand. They all meet the retirement test.

This means they have little or no personal income and live off Social Security payments.

They are our lowest income group and many of them stirred nostalgically and unhappily when an ancient figure of a man named Dr. Townsend (60 dollars at 60) rose once more onto the front pages by dying at 94.

THERE WAS much talk at the labor session of organizing the oldsters into clubs, getting them registered and convincing them to vote in a bloc.

There was a suggestion that perhaps a mass meeting in Lafayette Square in front of the White House would dramatize their unity and demands and swing them into the balloting booths on Nov. 8.

Many of the "retirees" are former union members. Only the United Auto Workers, led by Walter Reuther, has had a smoothly efficient retire department devoted to everything from social activities, sports and swimming to the solidarity of the social security circles.

However, Reuther is not to have that distinction inside labor for very long. In St. Louis, for example, Al J. Hayes, leader of the Machinists, told a pre-convention session of his high command that time had come to set up 2,000 "Older and Retired Workers Committees."

This will be but one of a spreading network of units for older folks which will talk of a rosier future these days when 65 really is the elder end of middle age.

THERE WILL ARRIVE in Washington, for example, a Zalmen J. Lichtenstein whose task it will be to organize "Golden Ring" clubs made up of "senior citizens."

His assignment on the AFL-CIO payroll is to coordinate these clubs so they become the center around which to enroll and attempt to influence the 12.5 million retirees.

There will be a series of mass meetings sponsored by the AFL-CIO. Six of them will be "major ones," I'm told.

The report is they'll be run in Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles, New York and one other strategic site still to be chosen.

Typical of this drive is the push in New York, where a mass meeting is scheduled for next week. There are 800,000 retirees in the state. Roughly this comes to one in 20 on a straight population basis. But it is one out of every nine voters—if all the retirees are registered.

THEY COULD easily be the balance of power bloc. How they voted in the 1958 Rockefeller-Harriman gubernatorial race, no one knows. But if they can be organized in a voting group by the energetic labor leaders, they could take the state from the Republicans.

The Democratic-Labor coalition is as aware of this as a pinch his batter is of a three and two count. While political circles elsewhere are thundering about other issues, the union organizers everywhere are calling on their older neighbors, getting them registered, noting those who will need auto transportation to the polling booths on Election Day. Retirees don't spend money easily on fares or taxi rides.

If the 12.5 million on Social Security benefits are woven into one strong movement and linked to labor, the older folks in many areas will be the political wave of the future.

Salem Coach Fears Letdown in Leetonia Fray Friday

Visitors Are Heavy Underdogs; Quakers Hope to Extend Streak

Locals Have Given Up Only One Touchdown In Last Six Contests

The Leetonia Bears will have a six-game winning streak to shoot at Friday night when they open their 1960 grid campaign against the Quakers at Reilly Stadium.

The Quakers won their final five games last season and opened this year with an impressive 7-0 decision over Akron Hoban. During the winning streak, Salem has blanked five of the six teams. Only the Boardman Spartans, who went down 36-8 here last year, have scored against the Quakers in the last six games.

The meeting Friday between Leetonia and Salem will be the 25th in a series dating back to 1906. In that period, the Quakers have won 19, lost 4 and tied 1 against the Bears. The last meeting on the gridiron between these two schools was in 1958 when Salem won 21-8. Leetonia's last victory over Salem came in 1945 when a team which many observers called the finest in the Bears' history trampled the Quakers 27-0.

LEETONIA, a Class A school, must be considered a heavy underdog in Friday's tilt. The Bears have what could be the makings of a fine front line but with only 29 boys out for the squad, Coach Ike Farrah can't reach too deep for replacements.

Salem Coach Blaine Morton says he understands that the Bears have a veteran forward wall capable of giving anyone trouble. "If you have a line that can open holes, it doesn't take much in the way of a backfield to run through them," Morton remarked.

"The morale of our team has been good," Coach Morton continued, "but I'm a little afraid that some of our boys are not taking this Leetonia team too seriously. This could hurt us."

"When we scheduled Leetonia for this year, Pat Mancuso (Leetonia's head coach last year) told us that the next two years looked like they would be the best they've had for a long time."

COACH FARRAH reports that his team has shown lots of spirit but is not blessed with blazing speed or great size.

The Leetonia starting line will average 168 pounds per man while the backs round out to about 159. Salem will average 163 up front and 165 in the backfield.

Salem looks to be in good physical shape for the game. Coach Morton says he plans to go with the same lineup that started against Hoban. Leetonia's lone question mark is guard Jim Less who is recovering from a case of blood poisoning. If Less is not ready to play Friday, Dan Ferry, 145, sophomore, will take his place.

Coach Farrah says his team will be in uniform when it arrives in Salem for the game. The Bears will leave by bus immediately after the game and shower in Leetonia.

LARGE CROWD from Leetonia is expected to follow the team here Friday. The Salem stadium will seat between 4,300 and 4,400 persons. There is standing room for several hundred more. Athletic Director Fred Cope estimated the crowd for the opener against Akron Hoban at just over 4,000.

Officials for this week's game are LaVern Haidet of Akron, A.A. Rittersbaugh of Canton, Don McPhee of Youngstown and Nick Frascella of Akron.

Kickoff time is 8 p.m.

Three Rookies Spark Tribe To 11-7 Victory Over Bosox

CLEVELAND (AP) — The rest is with the West for Cleveland's Indians.

The Indians had their biggest fanning of the season Wednesday night in their final joust with an eastern foe, getting seven runs in the third inning of an 11-7 victory over Boston. The Red Sox lost 14 of 22 with Cleveland.

Kansas City's last-place Athletics, who just swept a two-game series from league-leading New York, come here for a four-game series opening Friday night. All American League clubs are idle today.

Although Wednesday night's victory evened the Indians record at 70 games won and 70 lost, they still trail Washington by a half game in the battle for the last rung of the first division.

Barry Latman got his fifth triumph in a row, but yielded six of the seven Red Sox runs in the five innings he worked. Frank Funk hurried the last four and allowed one run—the first in 14 innings the rookie has pitched.

Three rookies sparked a 13-hit Cleveland attack by getting a pair of safe blows each and driving in a total of four runs. Third baseman Mike de la Hoz opened the big third inning with a home run off reliever Jerry Casale, and also had a single and sacrifice fly. Walter Bond singled twice and walked twice.

And outfielder Ty Cline, who left Clemson College to play his first professional baseball in June, singled his first time up as a major leaguer and on his next trip belted a triple to drive in one of the seven third-inning scores.

Tito Francona homered in the first inning when loser Frank Sullivan gave up three runs.

Vic Wertz's 19th home run after a single and a throwing error by De la Hoz netted a trio of Red Sox runs in the fifth. Lu Clinton, who doubled home two runs in the fourth, singled the last Boston run across in the eighth.

Ted Williams, in what may have been his last time at bat in the Stadium, took a called third strike in the third inning. He flied out his first time up, and in the fourth inning was replaced in left field by Rip Repulski.

The 3,763 gate pushed home attendance to 898,655. With eight playing dates left here, including a weekend series with the pennant-contending Chicago White Sox Sept. 23-24-25, a total 1960 home attendance of about 950,000 is indicated.

Boston 010 230 010—7 11 3 Cleveland 317 000 00x—11 13 1 F. Sullivan, Casale (2), Wills (3), Nichols (4), Stallard (8) and Nixon; Latman, Funk (6) and Romano. W—Latman (6-5), L—F. Sullivan (6-16).

Home runs—Boston, Wertz (19), Cleveland, Francona (15), De la Hoz (4), Power (8).

Slevin Gets Out Big Squad

New Junior High Grid Program May Pay Off

By DICK BRAUTIGAM
The beginning of a junior high football program which in a few years possibly could lead to a tougher and more attractive grid schedule for Salem High School will be displayed for the first time Thursday, Sept. 22, when the Salem freshmen gridgers tangle with the Boardman freshmen at Reilly Stadium.

Bob Slevin, a graduate of Boardman High and Ball State Teachers College, was hired by the Board of Education here last summer, and given the task of rebuilding a sagging junior high football program. In recent years, a sophomore who saw much action with the varsity was a rarity. The Salem freshmen haven't won a game in two seasons, thus causing some lack of interest.

However, with the appearance of the energetic Slevin on the scene, the football situation appears to be headed to greater heights. Slevin is a man who exudes confidence and spirit and some of his drive appears to have rubbed off on his players.

Slevin is a firm believer in the importance of desire and fundamentals. "I think our boys have an extraordinary amount of team spirit and it has been real evident in our practice sessions," Slevin remarked.

As an example, the junior high squad has tagged its offensive unit the "Butt-Kickers" and the defensive unit the "Dirty Dozen."

SLEVIN STARTED the rebuilding program here two and a half weeks before school opened. Without any formal notice in the newspaper, the coach personally started rounding up prospects for the team.

Slevin helped coach the varsity during the morning and evening sessions and in the afternoon he worked with the junior high gridgers who started coming out to practice on their own.

"We started with 14 kids and, as the practices got harder and the weather got hotter, we ended up with a total of 87 boys on the squad," Slevin commented. "It's a funny thing, because as the practices got harder, more kids showed up. It's usually the reverse."

The current squad totals 74 boys from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

Woody Hayes Tells Scribes:

'A Ball Under the Arm Is Worth 2 in the Air'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Coach Woody Hayes says his Ohio State football team will pass more than usual this fall, but that he still believes "a ball under the arm is worth two in the air."

The Buckeye chieftain, addressing Sigma Delta Chi journalistic fraternity members Wednesday night, said he figures to have a smaller but faster team this year—and he's especially high on his defensive corps.

He said the passing game would be enhanced because "we have better receivers than we've had in years—and quarterback Tom Matte is a much better thrower than most folks realize."

Hayes disclosed that Buckeye placekicking will be poorer than usual, and the punting nothing sensational.

"Those long punters, unless they can keep the ball high enough to allow your defenders to get down under them, aren't much use anyway," Hayes said. "We had the best defense in the Big Ten against runbacks last year, and with short punters we should do all right again."

Switching to the grant-in-aid program under which needy and qualified athletes are helped through school, Hayes said:

"Some of our boys are getting nothing, and some as low as $100. But then every student in the university gets around $1,200 or $1,400 free, for that's what it costs the state for each one every year. "I've heard some people say the athletes should get more because they bring in a lot of money. Since I came to Ohio State in 1951 our football receipts have been about 16 million dollars."

"I figured out that if we divided it up between our first two teams each year, each boy would get about $75,000—making them the highest priced athletes in the country."

Hayes said Matte and fullback Bob Ferguson could be great this year. With them in the backfield are sophomores Ed Ulmer and Bob Klein, both light but lightning fast. Bill Wentz of Canton will support the newcomers at each half.

Bucs' Bats Full of Holes

Cards Gain Full Game on Leaders

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Those world champion Los Angeles Dodgers may be lost, but they're not forgotten—not when they keep bobbing up to harass the leaders in what still could become a race for the National League pennant.

After taking two of three from third-place Milwaukee last weekend, the Dodgers tagged the first-place Pittsburgh with a second straight loss, 5-2, Wednesday night trimming the Pirates' lead to 5½ games by beating Vern Law for the first time this season.

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals gained on the Bucs with their eighth victory in 10 games, beating Cincinnati 6-4. The Braves walloped the Chicago Cubs 10-2 and now trail by 6½ games.

Philadelphia whipped the San Francisco Giants 5-1.

The fourth-place Dodgers, nine games behind and all but officially out of the race, handed Law his third straight defeat in a bid for his 20th victory. Wally Moon drove in three runs, bringing in the clincher with a two-run double in the fifth, against the Pirates' right-handed ace, who had a 5-0 record over Los Angeles.

Stan Williams (14-8) was the winner, checking the Pirates on seven hits and fanning 13 as Pittsburgh set a NL record with 26 strikeouts in two games.

Daryl Spencer socked a two-run homer in the eighth inning that iced it for St. Louis. Rookie Bob Miller (3-1) was the winner. Jay Hook (10-17) was the loser.

Ed Mathews hit his 37th home run in a two-run first inning for Milwaukee, and Hank Aaron then hit a three-run triple as the Braves scored four in the second against loser Don Cardwell (7-14).

Winner Joey Jay (8-7) gained his second complete game of the year with a six-hit performance.

Robin Roberts (10-15) beat the Giants by allowing only five singles. He retired 19 in a row and had a three-hit shutout with one out in the ninth. Billy O'Dell (7-12) was the loser.

Cards 9 Under Par 63

Leskosky Breaks Course Record at Salem Golf Club

Vince Leskosky, who is in his eighth year as pro at the Salem Golf Club, fired a blazing nine under par 63 Wednesday to set a new course record there.

Leskosky carded a 32 going out and a 31 coming in. He was under par on 7 of the 18 holes and even with par on the other 11. He eagled the par five, 450-yard number three hole both going out and coming in.

Here is how Leskosky set the record.

Par Out	445443444—36
Leskosky Out	343443443—32
Par In	445443444—36—72
Leskosky In	334334444—31—63

Leskosky was golfing in a foursome with Ed Pukalski, Rudy Schuster and Bob Schaefer. Fred Cope also joined in for a few holes.

No official records are kept at the Golf Club but several persons are known to have carded 65's there. It is also believed that someone shot a 64 there a few years ago.

Athletics Give Orioles Boost

Yankees' 'Cousins' Turn Hostile Again

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees and the Baltimore Orioles are in a virtual tie for the American League lead today as they take a breather before Friday night's opener of a four-game showdown at Yankee Stadium.

And all because the Yankees' kinsin' cousins, the last place Kansas City Athletics, bussed 'em right on the kissers.

The A's, after winning only five of 20 decisions with New York, swept the final two games of the season series with a 2-1, ninth-inning shocker Wednesday night on a tie-breaking home run by ex-Yank Andy Carey.

That shaved the Yankees' lead to one percentage point over the Orioles, who beat Detroit 11-10 in an afternoon game. Chicago's third place White Sox remained two games behind with a 6-1 setback by Washington that ended their winning streak at six.

Cleveland whipped Boston 11-7 in the other AL night game.

Carey's 12th home run led off the ninth for the A's and beat Art Ditmar (14-9).

Ray Herbert (11-15) was the winner.

The Orioles blew 5-0 and 8-6 leads at Detroit, then nailed it with three runs in the ninth—on Brooks Robinson's two-run two-out triple, Ron Hansen's wrap-up single and Steve Barber's neat relief. Chuck Estrada (17-9), the Orioles' top winner, was the fifth of eight pitchers used by Manager Paul Richards. The two-team record of 12 pitchers tied an AL record. Hank Aguirre (4-3) was the loser.

The White Sox were beaten by ex-teammate Earl Battey, who walloped a two-run homer in the second inning off loser Herb Score (4-10).

A seven-run third inning triggered by a leadoff homer by Mike de la Hoz and capped by Vic Power's three-run homer, bagged it for the Indians. Barry Latman (6-16) was the loser.

BOWLING

Bliss Co. Day Turn League started its season by turning in some red hot scores at Saxon Lanes on Wednesday night.

Joe Good paced all bowlers with a 578 set with a high game of 225. Other scores were R. Eddy, 571-212; R. Rockwell, 563-212; D. Reed, 562-201; R. Dowd, 551-199; and R. Lianna, 543-226.

The Timers had the high actual threegame set of 2550 as well as the high single game of 907.

Top man in the Saxon Lane Classic League last night was Bob Gardner of Alibi Inn who scored 200-201-213 for 614. He was followed by Jack Chamberlain, also of Alibi Inn, who posted a 612 with games of 226-161-225.

Other scores were Ray Thomson, 605-227; Jack Galchick, 602-204; Glenn Whinnery, 600-224. Alibi Inn's 992 was the high single game. Corso's Drive Inn and Paul's Pennzoil each posted 970. Corso's actual score of 2837 was the top three-game set.

At Timberlans, Jerry Brady of Budweiser Beer in the Quaker City Independent League took down honors for the high single game with a 214. Don Hoover of Lloyd Field Insurance Agency posted the high individual series, 508.

Budweiser's 2190 series and 805 single game took team honors. The Quaker City Independent League was newly organized this year and is composed of eight teams.

The earliest recorded Olympics took place in 776 B. C., but historians say the games had been going on for 700 years before that.

B&W Research Takes Second In Slo-Pitch

B & W Research won a playoff game Wednesday night for second place in the Slo-Pitch Softball League when it trampled Scott's Candies, 12-5 at Kelley Field.

Trailing 4-1 after four innings, B&W rallied for six runs in the fifth and five more in the sixth to sew up the victory. B&W's 15-hit attack was led by Loudin, Death, Hoopes and Thys, each of whom had two safe blows.

Gray and Steiner had three hits apiece for the losers.

Salem Stamping was the Slo-Pitch League champion this year.

Tennis Tournament Opens Here Saturday

The second annual Salem Invitational Tennis Tournament will get underway at the Salem Country Club Saturday with 23 singles and 32 doubles entries ready to battle for the titles.

Tournament Director Maurice Young has lined up some of the top amateur tennis talent in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania for this event. Defending doubles champions Bob Thompson and Ed Morris of Youngstown will be back to defend their title.

Top seeded among the singles hopefuls are Thompson, Dick Davis and Glen Barker of New Philadelphia. Seeded along with Thompson and Morris in the doubles are Barker and his partner Leon Yarnell of New Philadelphia.

Entered in the singles are 10 men from Youngstown, four from New Philadelphia, two from New Castle, two from Warren, two from East Palestine and three from Salem.

The Salem entries are Dick Strain, Joe DeCort and Maurice Young. Dick Capp of Columbiana will join Young in the doubles. DeCort and Strain will also team up in the doubles.

Bill Lynch and Bob Ross of East Palestine who won the doubles title there last week, are also entered here. Phil Wenner of Lisbon is a possible entry.

Singles competition is scheduled to get underway at 10 a.m. Saturday. In these matches, James Chore of New Philadelphia will meet Roy Tasacic of Youngstown; R. Daney of Youngstown will play Capp; and Bill Barth of Youngstown will take on Thompson.

Doubles action will start at 2 p.m. Saturday. The finals are billed for Sunday — singles at 3 p.m. and doubles at 5 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the matches at the Salem Country Club.

Ham a la Danton

Ingredients: 4 slices cooked ham (each about 4 by 4 by 1/2 inch), 2 tablespoons butter, 1 small onion (minced), 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon tomato paste, 2 tablespoons dry sherry, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon white pepper.

Method: Brown ham lightly on both sides in greased 8 or 9 inch skillet; remove.

Melt butter in same skillet; add onion and cook until soft but not brown. Stir in flour; add milk; cook and stir over low heat until thickened.

Stir in tomato paste, sherry, salt and pepper. Add ham; reheat. Makes 2 generous servings.

Note: If desired 4 slices of cooked boneless pork shoulder butt may be used instead of ham.

Mincemeat Pastries Fill Teens

For strenuous, athletic teen-agers who come to your house after the game looking for a snack, these mincemeat pastries are perfect. They are made of ground beef, mincemeat and piecrust mix. Served with hot spiced cider, they will block any charging appetite.

Mincemeat Pastries (Makes about 40 2-inch pasties)
One-quarter pound ground beef, 6 tablespoons instant mincemeat (1-pound, 12-ounce jar), 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 5-ounce sticks piecrust mix, 4 tablespoons boiling water.

Lightly combine beef, mincemeat and seasonings. Mix piecrust sticks and water according to package directions; roll out pastry very thin on floured surface (to thickness of 1/8-inch). Cut into 80 circles two inches in diameter, with biscuit cutter. Prick half the circles several times with fork.

Place 1/2 teaspoon mincemeat mixture in center of unpricked circles; cover with pricked circles. Seal edges by moistening lower circle and press together with fingers or fork around edges. Place pasties on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 8 to 10 minutes, or until crust is golden brown.

Place a large cheese football on the table. To make: mold any soft cheddar cheese into the general shape of a football. The lacings are suggested with a brush dipped in soup or gravy coloring.

Arrange fall flowers in a football holder. Buy a toy football (costs about 39 cents). Cut off top with kitchen knife. Place small bowl with wire flower holder inside to hold flowers.

Montana Sauce

Ingredients: 4 cups shredded green cabbage (packed down), 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 medium-sized ripe but firm bananas, 2 teaspoons (about) lemon juice, salt, white pepper.

Method: Mix cabbage and mayonnaise. Peel bananas; at once mash with fork but not too fine; there should be small pieces of the banana visible.

Mix banana and lemon juice with cabbage mixture adding salt and pepper to taste. Makes 6 servings.

LAUSCHE PRAISES IKE

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Sen. Frank J. Lausche — A Democrat — devoted much of a speech here Tuesday night to praise of the Republican Eisenhower Administration, including the President's handling of the U2 incident and the summit conference.

Speaking before an audience of about 500 at the Hancock Farmers' Club annual barbecue, Lausche said that, as a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, he has heard evidence in the last few years which leads him to believe that should Russia attack the United States, this country could retaliate and defeat the Soviet Union.

Baked Fish, Vegetables

Ingredients: 2 whole fish (1 1/2 to 2 pounds each), salt, pepper, 1 small onion, 1 small green pepper, 1 medium-sized carrot, 1 or 2 ribs celery, 1 to 3 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Method: Have fish split, cleaned and backbone removed; head and tail may be left on. Sprinkle inside with salt and pepper; seasoning salt may also be used.

Cut onion, green pepper, carrot and celery into thin strips; arrange in fish. Sprinkle vegetables with seasoning and dot with butter.

Close fish with twine or skewers; rub outside with butter. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 25 minutes or until fish flakes easily and loses transparent look.

Vegetable will still be crisp. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

MOTHER, DAUGHTER KILLED

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Jerry Hoover, 28, of Shiloh (Richland County) and her nine-month-old daughter, Cindy, were killed Tuesday in a two-car collision on a county road two miles north of Mansfield, the Highway Patrol reported. Three other persons were injured.

Swedes Go for Halibut, Salmon

High on a bluff overlooking the glittering city of Stockholm is Skansen, a village of old Sweden, reconstructed in the manner of our own Williamsburg. Stockholm residents and their visitors love to go to Skansen to dine at the excellent restaurant Solliiden.

Salmon cooked in its many delectable ways is popular at Solliiden. This sauteed salmon with dill will explain why.

Swedish Sauteed Salmon With Dill (Makes 4 servings)
Four salmon steaks, flour, salt and pepper, 1/2 stick butter or margarine (4 tablespoons).

If salmon is frozen, let thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature. Dust salmon steaks lightly with flour. Season with salt and pepper.

Saute in butter about 5 minutes; turn fish carefully and saute other side about 5 minutes (depending on thickness of fish) or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove to warm platter. Garnish with fresh dill if available. Serve with dill butter.

Dill Butter: Melt 1/2 stick butter or margarine (4 tablespoons). Add 1/4 teaspoon dill seed or a pinch of dill salt.

Serve Cool Peaches In No-Bake Pie

A bumper crop of peaches, the largest since 1947—over 74 million bushels—is luscious market news.

An outstanding advance in food technology make it possible today to get peaches that actually taste as though just picked from the tree. The process is called hydro-cooling. After the peaches are picked, they are rushed by truck to packing houses near the orchards, and then placed on conveyor belts for sorting and grading.

Next, the conveyor belts move the fruit through an ice-cold water spray until thoroughly chilled (this is hydrocooling). Next, they are carefully hand-packed into baskets or lugs, which are systematically stacked into express refrigerated cars and trucks.

To get quality fruit, select peaches with good "ground color." A creamy white or yellow ground color—or undercolor—indicates the fruit has ripened satisfactorily. Immature peaches have a green undertone and lack flavor and juiciness. Firmness is important.

Firm and firm-ripe peaches are the best buys, for they can be kept a day or two—well-chilled—and still maintain their flavor. Fully ripe peaches are excellent only for immediate eating. (Avoid hard peaches because they will not ripen satisfactorily).

No-Bake Peach Ice Cream Pie

For the crust, use cookie or graham cracker crumbs. Moisten with just enough melted butter to hold the crumbs together, and carefully press into the pie pan. Chill until firm. Then spread softened ice cream, using vanilla or a nutty flavor, into a thin layer over the crust.

Add a layer of fresh peach slices (be careful not to overlap the slices), then more ice cream, another layer of peaches, a layer of ice cream and then just enough peaches on top to form a wreath around the edge of the pie. Chill about an hour before serving.

Fish Souffle

Ingredients: 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 4 eggs (separated), 1 cup flaked cooked fish, ½ cup minced cooked vegetables, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper.

Method: Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk in a 1-quart saucepan.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir in hot white sauce; return to saucepan; cook and stir over low heat a few minutes.

Remove from heat; stir in fish, cooked vegetables, parsley, lemon juice, salt and dash of pepper. With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold straight peaks; fold into sauce mixture.

Turn into a greased 1½-quart casserole (about 8 by 3 inches with straight sides). Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 30 to 35 minutes, until puffed and golden brown. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Mushroom sauce: Drain a 3-ounce can of sliced mushrooms; add enough milk to the liquid to make 1 cup.

Make a white sauce with 1½ tablespoons each butter and flour and the milk mixture, adding 1 tablespoon dry onion-soup mix (just as it comes from package).

The House of Enchantment

So observes Dr. Reuben L. Hill, sociologist, director of The Family Study Center at the University of Minnesota. Asked if the American family is in a state of decline, he replied, "No, the family is in a constant state of reorganization—it's normal to have a mild state of disorganization."

Today's family is a specialized agency concentrating on services that no other institution can provide. It is a sanctuary from the hurly-burly of a highly competitive industrial society, providing warmth, love, sustaining food, and recognition of personal worth which goes far to meet the needs of good mental health of personality today.

Breakfast, according to Dr. Hill, is the zero hour in many homes. "It's the most hectic time of the day, when father is getting off to work and the children to school. Far too often, it is not a leisurely meal that contributes to the family's mental poise and health," he states.

However, a little organization and planning on mother's part can go a long way towards turning breakfast into a more congenial meal. First of all is to get the children up early enough to allow adequate time for dressing and unhurried eating before leaving for school. The next step in the campaign to change breakfast into a plus family meal is to make the menu so inviting that none will want to miss it.

A basic adequate breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter is the easiest and quickest pattern to follow. Different combinations of fruits, cereals and breads can make a different breakfast every morning. On weekends, add eggs and breakfast meats and special breads. Refrigerator biscuits can be quickly turned into jam-filled sweet rolls.

Applesauce oatmeal bread is a quick bread that can be made ahead and stored in the refrigerator for several days or for a longer period in the freezer. Good for toast, sandwiches, snacks and can be served at dinner.

Applesauce Oatmeal Bread (Yield: 1 loaf)

Two cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 cup rolled oats, uncooked; ½ cup buttermilk or

The family meal reflects the family atmosphere. It can be good or bad. The family at war with itself, or constantly in a state of frantic haste at mealtime, rarely achieves unity and strength. But the family that enjoys leisurely, thoughtfully planned meals, is usually a happy family.

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Stir in brown sugar and rolled oats. Combine buttermilk, applesauce and melted fat and add to dry ingredients, mixing only enough to blend.

Fill greased loaf pan, 8½x4½x2½ inches, 2-3 full. Bake in moderate oven(350 degrees F.) about 55 minutes. Cool on rack.

Shoestring Potatoes

Ingredients: 2 pounds potatoes (6 medium-size), 1 teaspoon salt, white pepper, 1 cup coarsely grated cheddar cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup light cream, paprika.

Method: Pare potatoes; cut crosswise into ¼-inch thick slices; cut slices into ¼-inch strips.

Turn into deep 9-inch pie plate or hallow baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, pepper to taste and ¼ cup cheese; dot with butter; pour over cream.

Top with remaining ¼ cup cheese and sprinkle lightly with paprika. Cover tightly with foil. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 50 to 60 minutes or until tender when tested with a fork.

Prepare Low-Calorie Chicken

The familiar phrases "chicken every Sunday" and "a chicken in every pot" reflect the traditional importance of chicken in American life. It's a symbol of security, of family well being, and its presence on the Sunday dinner table, along with mashed potatoes, gravy and homemade ice cream, is part of our folklore.

A surprising number of chicken dishes can be prepared on a low-calorie basis if weight is a family problem (one out of every five Americans past 40 is overweight). Broiled, roasted, baked or stewed in combination with many attractive ingredients, it can produce dishes rich in flavor but limited in calories. Families can make reducing a group project in this way while enjoying a wide range of appetizing dinners.

Herb-baked chicken makes a delicious main course for a low-calorie but interesting Sunday family dinner. The herb, coupled with lemon juice, complements the chicken flavor. Broiled tomatoes and a crisp green salad add contrast.

Herb-Baked Chicken (Yield: 4 servings)

One broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces; 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon basil or rosemary or tarragon or thyme, 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese.

Sprinkle chicken with monosodium glutamate and salt. Place skin side up, in foil-lined baking pan. Combine butter, lemon juice and herb. Brush over chicken.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 45 minutes, brushing occasionally with herb mixture. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and bake 15 minutes longer.

Curried Spaghetti Is Thrifty

Want to give a smart party for very little money? Then try this unusual curry sauce of meats, fruits and seasonings on spaghetti. It's really an eating event.

Here's a menu for that party:
Menu: Orange-curry spaghetti, condiments (peanuts, flaked coconut, chutney), fresh vegetable relishes, cranberry tarts, coffee or spiced hot tea.

Orange-Curry Spaghetti (Makes 4 servings)

One-half pound ground beef, 1/2 pound ground veal, 1/2 pound ground pork, 2 cups orange juice, 1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-3 cup seedless raisins, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces spaghetti.

Combine beef, veal and pork; mix well. Cook over low heat until browned, stirring occasionally. Add orange juice, cornstarch, curry powder, nutmeg, and raisins and cook, covered, over low heat, stirring occasionally, 35 to 40 minutes.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve with orange-curry sauce.

This noodle custard recipe is excellent for dinner. Different and delightfully flavored with onion soup mix.

Noodle Egg Custard (Makes 4 to 6 servings)

One tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces medium egg noodles, 6 eggs, beaten; 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, one 1/2-ounce package dehydrated onion soup mix.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Combine eggs, milk, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper and onion soup mix; mix well. Stir in noodles. Turn into greased 2-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 1 hour, or until set.

Questions and Answers

Q—How did Utah become popularly known as the Beehive State?
A—The Mormon pioneers called the region Deseret, a term which means "honeybee" in the Book of Mormon, and is a symbol of industry and hard work, hence the name Beehive State.
Q—With what writer do you associate the column "Sharps and Flats"?
A—Eugene Field, American poet and journalist.

WITH THE last finishing touches being completed at the store and the new fall merchandise coming in every day and with the season about to change, color appears to be everywhere.

AMERICAN fashions for fall 1960 seem to be unmistakably geared to an affluent society. Fabric and trimmings are rich and often further enhanced by measures of fur. Color is extravagantly used, especially noticeable in daytime fashions. No doubt about it, clothes are truly beautiful!

THE SILHOUETTE allows for a remarkable freedom of choice. No single look leads all the rest. But as has been said in this column before, the lines are fluid, relaxed. Pleats are used as they have not been in years — all kinds of pleats. Skirts are soft, gentle easy to wear.

COLOR, COLOR, COLOR — it just spills out on the canvas of the fashion picture. The wonderful thing is everyone has a choice, for though purple has made the biggest splash there just is no limit to the blazing rich pure tones.

JUST LOOKING at the store's departments one becomes aware of the vast array of color in ALL its merchandise.

IN COSMETICS for instance — it's a magic land indeed where one can find row after row of nail polishes and lipsticks in every hue imaginable; wonderful, bewitching shades for the eyes, bases and powders that suit every skin.

THEN THE marvelous new and delightful colors for hosiery, not speaking of all the types of hose available, the various knits, lengths, etc., just the glorious colors that simply MAKE a costume a thing of beauty.

LINGERIE HAS NEVER been lovelier—again it's color. Co-ordinated pieces in shades of sapphire, black ambrosia, ivory mist, turquoise, sandalwood, poppy, nectarine — simply breathtaking.

FABRICS ARE SO beautiful and so elegant that people who never sewed or who had not for years are once more finding the thrill of making and designing a dress or coat. Not only are the blends of fibers so incredible but the high-voltage colors seem to challenge you — you just can't resist them.

COSTUME JEWELRY is beyond a doubt the most exciting it has ever been. All of nature's loveliness seems to be caught in the rich blaze of color obtainable in jewelry today. The costliest gems have no more richness of color than do the enchanting baubles and glittering pieces you can see in our Jewelry Department.

The Inner Universe: Article No. 3

Atom Smashing Costly, Rewarding

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Like the probing of outer space, the study of the inner universe, the atom, requires tremendous outlays of energy — and money. But, again as in space exploration, the rewards are as great as the costs.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

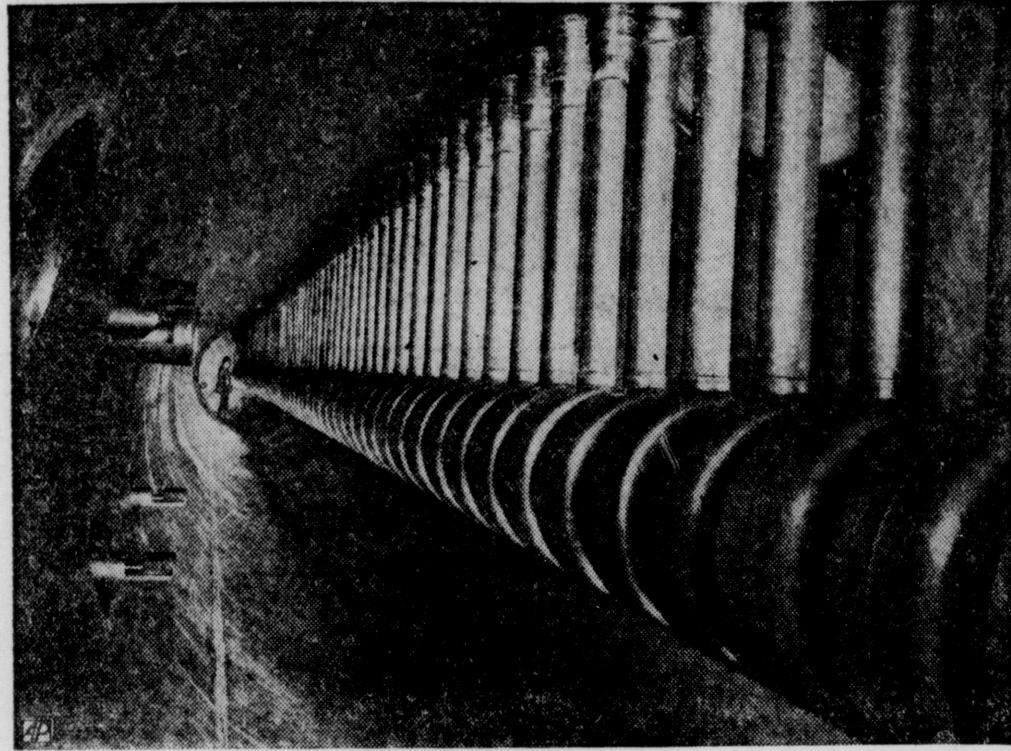

Rockets to explore outer space demand tremendous energy.

So also it takes tremendous energy to explore the inner universe of atoms, using protons and electrons as the main "rockets."

Speed them up with successive kicks of electricity and they can be sent crashing into atomic nuclei at nearly the speed of light. Electrons also can serve as a kind of microscope actually to "see" and measure individual particles in the nucleus.

Since World War II, physicists here, in Russia, Europe and elsewhere have built atom-smashers leapfrogging up to fabulous energies. Knowledge learned is freely shared.

The United States now has the most powerful accelerator at Brookhaven National Laboratory, firing protons at energies of 31 billion electron volts (BEV). This is triple Russia's strongest machine, but the Soviets propose one of 5 to 70 BEV. There are some ATOMIC 'GUN BARREL' — The immense size of the equipment needed to crack the tiny atomic nucleus is graphically illustrated in this photograph of the interior of a new type atom smasher at the University of California. The man standing at the end of the atomic "gun barrel" is dwarfed by the doughnut-shaped "drift tubes" through which heavy fragments of matter are hurled.

ports they are already building it.

Rewards in knowledge are great. So are costs.

Through the Atomic Energy Commission and other agencies, the government this year is spending almost 60 million dollars in this research. Projected plans and machines call for 135 million by 1965 — less than a third of the sum now spent annually to store surplus grain and far less than the costs of exploring outer space.

It can cost three to six million a year to operate one of the big brute machines, mostly for electric power, maintenance, special equipment and experimental devices.

ONE MAIN WAY of accelerating particles is with a few big electrical kicks along a straight line tube—the linear accelerator.

The other is to whirl them around many thousands of times, slingshot fashion, with thousands of small electrical kicks. These are the synchrotrons and synchrocyclotrons.

The particles race through hollow tubes, evacuated of air. Electromagnets around or beside the tube keep the particles curving within the tube until loosed upon the target.

The machines must produce millions and billions of "bullets" each second. Otherwise, trying to score a hit on the tiny atomic nucleus would be like firing a rifle bullet at a gnat miles away.

The first slingshot, the cyclotron, was developed early in the 1930's by the late Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence at the University of California. Its energy was only 80 thousand electron volts. (An electron volt is the energy one electron, or one proton, picks up in falling across one volt potential difference.)

Energies increased with new machines and designs. In 1952 came the 3 BEV Cosmotron at Brookhaven.

In 1954, the 6.2 BEV Bevatron whirled into action at the University of California. It, like the Cosmotron, was based on a new idea of Dr. Edwin McMillan of California for controlling electrical frequency to push the bullets to higher energy. Russia's V.I. Veksler independently had the same conception.

The Bevatron pushed deeply into the nuclear frontier, finding among other knowledge the anti-proton, anti-neutron and anti-lambda particles.

Russia has a 10 BEV proton synchrotron, built with 36,000 tons of costly magnetic steel.

Brookhaven's new 31 BEV synchrotron, using a new principle of magnetic focusing, sends protons around a half-mile track 300,000 times within a second, yet its magnets weigh only 4,000 tons.

In Switzerland, a similar machine of 2 BEV has been operated nearly a year now by the 12-nation European Organization for Nuclear Research (CERN).

Both machines can produce all the particles of the nuclear zoo.

Most importantly, they can produce streams of them. So the newer particles can be studied intensively, or sent banging into other targets, to learn better what "cages" these "animals" belong in and how they relate to one another.

Building at Argonne National Laboratory near Chicago is a 42 million dollar 12.5 BEV machine which will produce a richer harvest of many of these particles.

OPERATED CONTINUOUSLY, it would use enough electric power to light and run 70,000 homes. The great machines, in fact, often do run day and night, with experiments performed by professors and scientists from nearby universities and centers.

This opportunity for research strengthens universities, for top-notch teachers then are not so tempted to move to distant places where they can take part in this exciting research. Argonne's Dr. Albert Crewe points out:

Here and abroad, literally scores of accelerators are at work. Regardless of size, each can contribute vital facts concerning the inner universe.

Linear accelerators are equally workhorses of this research.

At Stanford, for example, electrons from the 1 BEV linear accelerator have been used as a microscope to determine the size, shape and other properties of the proton, neutron and electron in research by Dr. Robert Hofstadter and associates. Clues come from the manner in which electrons bounce off their infinitesimal targets.

From this work, protons appear to be like fuzzy peaches, soft on the outside, hard on the inside. Now with a $50,000 magnetic spectrometer, the scientists hope to push deeper into the cores of protons and neutrons, and check fundamental theories about the nucleus and its binding forces.

Stanford and Princeton scientists are cooperating in building a new device to make two electron beams collide and to check theories about laws governing atoms and the nucleus. Electrons from the present machine will collide with energies equivalent to that from a 1,000 BEV linear accelerator.

To open another frontier, Stanford scientists have proposed a two-mile long linear accelerator producing 10 to 5 BEV energies. It would cost about 107 million.

AT THE UNIVERSITY of Wisconsin, the Midwestern Universities Research Assn. is building small models for a proposed 15 BEV Vsynchrotron which would collide two beams of protons, at energy equivalent to 50 BEV accelerator, to investigate deeper secrets of the proton.

In cosmic rays from space, nature showers down particles reaching energies of millions to a billion BEV. Balloons carrying special photographic plates are sent 20 miles or more high to record their hits and new data about the atomic nucleus.

At the California Institute of Technology, Dr. Carl D. Anderson and associates are constructing special new counters and cloud chambers to capture and study in the laboratory some of the explosive and revealing "events" created by cosmic rays.

WITH GENIUS and tools, the search proceeds to make sense of all the particles, and four forces known so far to be involved in the inner universe. These forces are:

1. The "strong" forces binding atomic hearts together.
2. Electromagnetic forces within the atom, 100 times weaker.
3. The "weak" reactions which determine how any particle changes or decays into other particles—this is perhaps 10 billion times weaker than the electromagnetic forces.
4. Much weaker still, the gravitational force.

"Only through these four forces does any particle in the universe know anything about the presence of any other particle, and so to be influenced by it," Dr. Crewe explains.

But therein lies a key to the whole universe.

Nature probably is simpler in her grandeur than now appears from the array of particles and physical laws so far understood, says Dr. Geoffrey Chew of California, one of the theoretical physicists puzzling over the entire problem. Present theories may have to be revised.

The need, as Dr. Oppenheimer has expressed it, is for discovery of a principle of "immense sweep and simplicity."

Perhaps, says one physicist, "the answer may come from some bright kid, in high school now, who manages to glimpse and understand the whole beautiful pattern."

TWO KILLED IN CRASH

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A two-car collision two miles west of Hebron killed two Medina county persons and injured three others Tuesday, the Highway Patrol reported. Killed were Gust G. Neshcheff, 77, and Jewell Neshcheff of Wadsworth, who were riding in one of the cars.

The injured, traveling in the second car, were Jack Junior Kiema, 30, of Rt. 2, Pataskala; Charles K. Stemer, 22, of Rt. 1, Pataskala; and Walter R. Yerian, 19, of Rt. 1, Hebron. The accident occurred at the intersection of Ohio 440 and Ohio 37.

Classics! Ivys! Continentals!

Why reduce New Fall suits now? Because September starts slowly—we come off better if we're busy, instead of waiting. How can you tell these are new suits? One quick look at the styles and fabrics will tell you. Most have been here less than three weeks. Can you check your savings? You bet you can. Every suit bears its regular price ticket plus a sale ticket. You see at a glance how much you save. Why pay more later? Why indeed—except some men always drag their feet. Don't you be one of them! Step lively —you'll be glad you did!
